

Astragalus brandegei

BRANDEGEE MILKVETCH

Photo Copyright © 1999 by B. Jennings

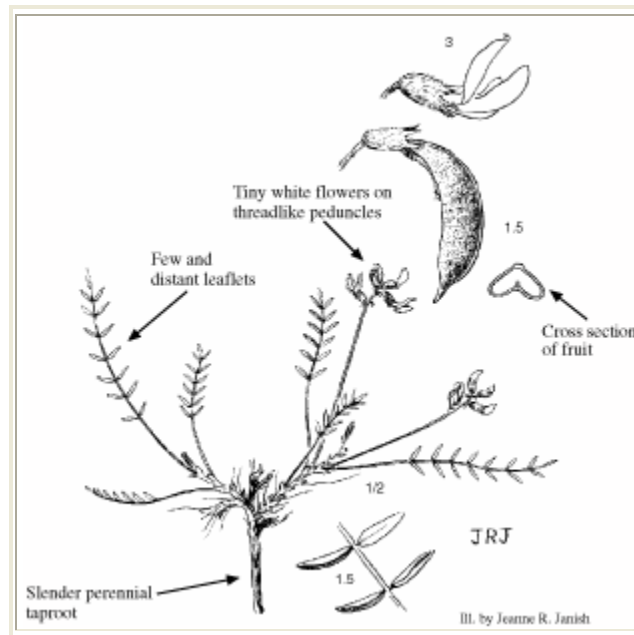

Illustration Copyright © 1999

Fabaceae (Pea Family)

Look Alikes: This species is easily recognizable and not likely to be confused with other species within its' Colorado distribution.

Flowering/Fruiting Period: April-September/through September.

Habitat: Sandy or gravelly banks, flats, and stony meadows; mostly in pinyon-juniper woodlands, sometimes in oak woodlands, rarely in yucca-grasslands. Bedrock is usually sandstone, occasionally granite or basalt. Elev. 5400-8800 ft.

Photo Copyright © 1999 by B. Jennings

Distribution: Utah, Arizona, New Mexico and Colorado (Conejos, Fremont, Gunnison and Mineral Cos.). The known localities are widely disjunct.

References: Barneby 1964 and 1989; Weber 1961

