

Photo Copyright © 1999 by J. Sellers

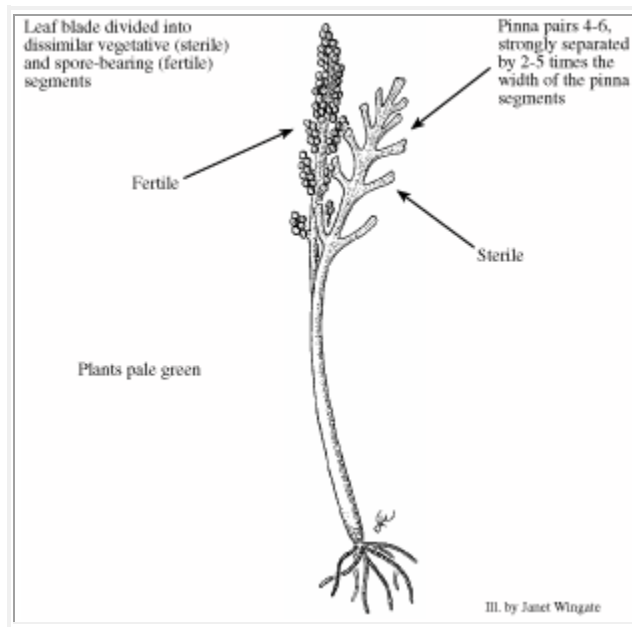

Illustration Copyright © 1999

Ophioglossaceae (Adder's Tongue Family)

Look Alikes: B. campestre has a broader and fleshier rachis, a more dense and fleshy sporangium mass, and overlapping or fused vegetative leaf segments.

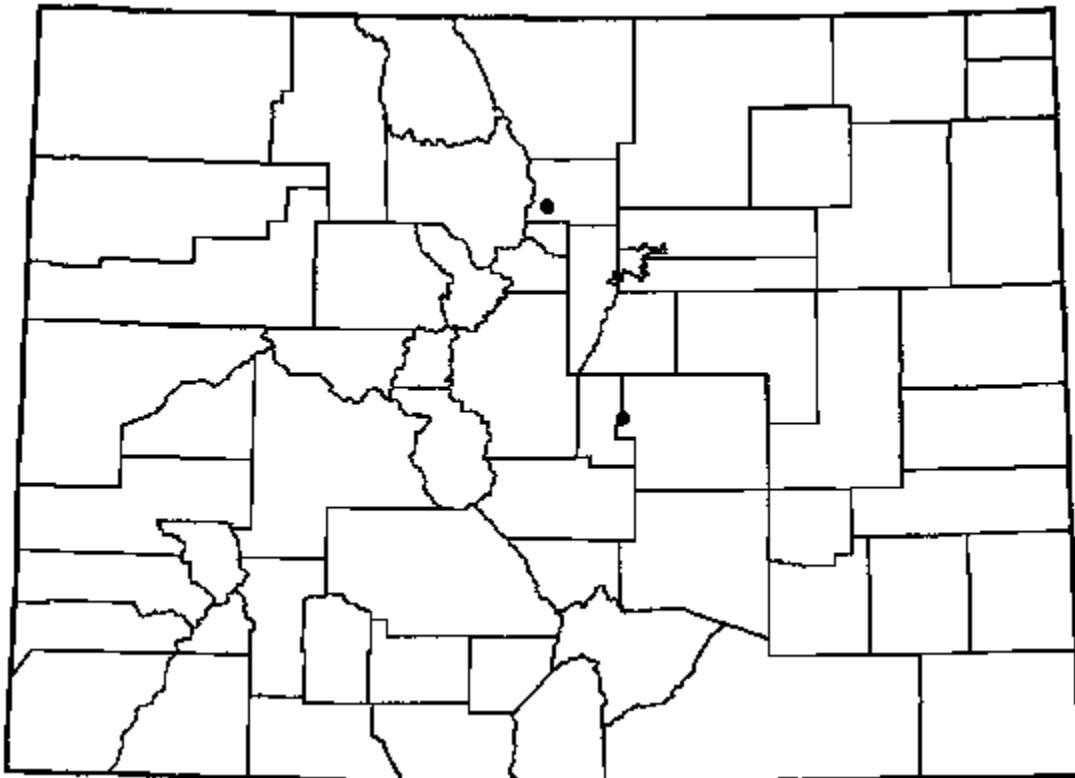

Spore-Producing Period: Spores produced in June.

Habitat: Grassy slopes, among medium height grasses, along edges of streamside forests. Elev. 7900-9500 ft.

Photo Copyright © 1999 by S. Spackman

Distribution: New Brunswick, Quebec, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, California and Colorado (Boulder and El Paso Co.).

References: Wagner and Wagner 1994.